MR. ROBERT F. WALTON

It is with deep regret that the staff and students of Riverside High School say "au revoir" to our principal, Robert F. Walton, who first came to Riverside as supervising principal of the public schools in 1942. His excellent administrative ability has kept the school functioning smoothly through all the crises and the phenomenal growth of the past five years. To all students Mr. Walton has been both a friend and mentor, but first and foremost he has been a teacher who has given unstintingly of his time and knowledge in order to ensure that his students have a sound academic foundation for the future. To the staff Mr. Walton has been a true and valued friend, mentor and guide, supply teacher, secretary, and general handyman.

To you — Mr. Walton — our grateful thanks for all that you have done to lay the excellent foundations for the Riverside High School of to-day and to-morrow and for the unselfish assistance at all times to both staff and students.

BLOOD SWEAT AND TEARS

The task of preparing this edition for press has not been without its various minor crises. Blood almost flowed when non-contributing bystanders offered advice. "Why don't we have a BIG BOOK with a padded cover?" (Oh yes! encrust it with rubies and pearls too, all for a $1.25). "I don't like my photo," (we thought it was flattering), is another common stimulant to the adrenalin. Belated, uncorrected columns, usually grubby and folded into small squares, were a horror to behold! We "the workers" offer you the best we could do. Where were the critics with the brain waves, when the sweat and toil was in progress?

To the uninitiated we explain — work on a year book begins early in September. First, advertising must be sold, letters written, and a budget set. All year the effort continues in spasms. Then frenzied activity is essential as the time to go to press draws near. After publication, we begin to collect for "ads." Sometimes, September finds us still collecting from reluctant accounts. (Those whose names we spelled wrong). Do patronize our advertisers, without them there would be no Rebelogue, or our selling price would be $3.00 for 30 pages.

The Spark behind this year's book is Diane Morton, who never lost hope. Able and willing assistance was given by Sandra Saruna. Gordon Thompson, our advertising manager, kept the financial worries to a minimum. Ken Woodall, the human computer with an eagle eye, is the business manager. Marianne Langlois, blonde as a secretary should be, was invaluable. Dave MacKay and Janet Murphy produced the patrons, whose generous material assistance enables us to keep the line on price.

Virgil Duff and Margaret Hodut tramped miles about the halls, to round up the class columns, club reports, and literary gems. The Camera Club, under the direction and active participation of Mr. Giles had a difficult task to follow Mr. Logan's professional footsteps. (Neil St. Clair and Dave Kellington led the endeavours of this newly formed club). Sheila Georges was always ready to offer smiling help.

Miss Westgate and Miss Clary edited the class columns, to them go special thanks. Under the direction of Mr. King, the printers at the Star have been helpful and efficient. No doubt some will be overlooked in the mad haste, to them we say SORRY! please understand. Among the many behind these pages are; Bruce Stott, Sue Taylor, Carol Solomchuk. Nancy Housley, Carol Burbridge, Nancy Watret, Brenda Steele, Jane Anne Bower, Julie Brennan, Walter Pastorius, Maya Van Diessen, Larry Coughlin, Lynn Rozich and the "Forgotten ones."

Commencement, 1961

This year our Commencement Exercises were held on December 21. Graduates came from as far as Montreal to be present for the occasion.

The exercises were preceded by an elaborate graduation dinner, held at the United Church. At the opening, the Reverend Lindsay Howan delivered the Invocation, which was immediately followed by the playing of the Graduation March and 'O Canada.' Mr. E. E. Varah, chairman of the Board of Education, then introduced Alderman Watson, who came in place of Mayor G. R. Stewart, and gave some words of encouragement to the graduates, concerning their future endeavours. The high point of the evening was the address to the graduates by the Reverend Dr. R. Temple Kingston. He stressed their importance in the future, and asked them to choose their line of work carefully, to work in behalf of peace, and to aid in the abolition of discrimination. The address impressed everyone present.

Mr. Walton, with the aid of several members of the school board and staff, then proceeded with the awarding of diplomas, class medals, and intermediate certificates.

Six members of the graduating class received scholarships and bursaries. Elizabeth Day received a Dominion-Provincial Student Aid Bursary and a Student Council Bursary. Blaire Durbin and Mary MacPherson each received Student Council Bursaries. The John Askin Chapter I.O.D.E. Bursary was presented to Richard O'Callaghan by Mr. C. C. White. Ingrid Stahl was the proud receiver of the Dominion-Provincial Student Aid Bursary, the Student Council Bursary, and the Kiwanis Club of Riverside Bursary. The Ukrainian Graduates' Society Scholarship and a Student Council Bursary went to Jance Wachna. The Valedictory address was presented by Mary MacPherson.

The Student body and the staff all express the best wishes for the future of this year's graduates.

Investment and Opportunity

Canada needs young men and women of ambition and ability who want to build successful, worth-while careers. Money invested in education, particularly at the university level, offers this opportunity and gives Canada a high return.

Since it began six years ago, the General Motors Canadian Scholarship Programme has created opportunities for students who found lack of sufficient funds all that kept them from a university education. Twenty-five scholarships are awarded each year and, to the present, more than 200 students have received awards ranging in value to $2,000 a year.

The choice of one of 14 universities and of faculty rests entirely with the students and their advisors. The GM Scholarship Programme also provides grants to the universities themselves to help maintain and improve the quality of education.

The seven General Motors companies operating in Canada want to help deserving students develop their capabilities so that they can prepare for an important part in Canada's future.

It is an investment we like.

Applications for General Motors Scholarships should be directed to the Registrars of the following participating universities: The University of Toronto; the University of Western Ontario, London; Queen's University, Kingston; the University of Montreal; the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg; the University of British Columbia, Vancouver; the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; the University of Alberta, Edmonton; Dalhousie University, Halifax; the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton; Laval University, Quebec City; McGill University, Montreal; Memorial University, St. John's, Newfoundland; and McMaster University, Hamilton.

GENIUS INCORPORATED – 12A

To operate such a large corporation as the one managed by the members of Genius Incorporated, a vast amount of talent is required. This exposition, has been compiled by the staff of Inter - Office Communications, Sandra Saruna, Sue Taylor, and Dave MacKay, to enlighten the general public on the ability to be found therein.

First, let us examine the financial structure. Ronald Kocela maintains a constant check on books in his position of auditor-in-chief. It is he who calculates the possibilities of prospective resources, which are proposed by the able geologists and geographers, Eric Morgan and Juri Kasemets. Bab McCallum and Ken Woodall analyse mineral samples in their Chemical Lab. They work in company with the chief distiller Jim Hussey. Secretarial work is ably handled by Lynn Rozich who along with Maya van Diessen, the female personnel manager, and Elizabeth Barron, the press secretary, keep our statistics-clerk, Catherine Hindmarsh, diligently labouring in order to file immense quantities of documents in the library.

Walter Pastorius and Gord Wirch, whose main assignment is investing funds wisely are often seen signing forms in the presence of Bruce Stott, former director of recreation who transferred to lottery superintendent. This common occurrence is verified by pictures taken by Dave Kellington and Neil St. Clair, the heads of advertising and sales promotion.

Not to be omitted in this outline are the two members of the

"Bandaidd Brigade" Doc Alewick and Nurse Morton, whose supreme efforts reduce the injury-caused mortality rate. Bruce Davidson and Mike Loaring, the chief economists labour to reduce costs but are beleaguered by the efforts of Richard Lefave to obtain support for his drive for more frivolous living, such as coffee breaks and freely tipping the Chairman of the Board of Directors of Bell Hops, Pete Malowney.

To increase sales and revenues Dave Merschback, Bennett Ormseth, and Gord Thompson function as sales directors, whose foreign meetings result in vast orders for our products. In summary this is an exposée of the operation of 12A, who, under the direction of Miss Trottier has had a wonderful year.

12B CLASS COLUMN

We of 12B would like to welcome you all to the Olympics of 1962. This year they are being held at Riverside, under the guidance of the great historian, Mr. Sabo. Moving over to the news department we find our foreign correspondent Margitta Wiedemann, busily typing the results of the past days. All this important information is to be delivered to the chief editor of "Play Sports" magazine. Here are some of the results: At the hockey matches, Jim Duck is leading the winning Rebels to gold cup victories. At the high jump pit Peter Budwin wears a silver medal, adding prestige to the discounted suit he wears, compliments of Art Bowman. Margaret Brady has simply to do a headstand and she will move into the final round of the gymnastics event. Leading the weight lifting division is John Andriash, lifting a total weight of two pounds. Maintaining the peace and sportsmanship at these events is the well-known "Perfect" — Ted Williams. In the field of literature: Gary Snyder, the well-known "Valentine King"; Bill Wakely, famous for his poetic history notes to Barb Smith; and Dave Parmeter, our London correspondent, are all trying for first place honours. Rod Smith and Tom Ryan have been setting many new records, not only here, but away. In the Basketball events, to be held in the evening, we are well-represented by Sheila Georges and Roger Touchie, both entered in the senior division. Here is a news flash — that dancing man, George Lewis, has just won the gold medal in the "Pony Contest" for the third consecutive year. Bob Luck-Baker, the Olympic philosopher has entered himself in a new event, "Concentration" and he is doing quite well. Vincent Castonguay was given the new title of "Big Daddy Vince," by one of his many admirers from another nation — congratulations Big Daddy. Jane Anne Bower, our goodwill minister, has acquired many new titles over the last few days — Miss Pork Chop of '62, Bubbles, and Madame Petunia. The booby prize or I mean award, was presented to Ken Thorn for being the all round "Athlete of the Year." Randy Austin took honours in the Junior events — as he was the only one entered. On behalf of the teams we would like to thank our two great coaches Jack Livingstone and Bill Wells. Signing off now are your three roving reporters:

Jane Anne Bower, Margaret Brady, and Sheila Georges.

12C's MONDAY MORNING BLUES

Halfway down the main hall you will meet the sleepest bunch of teenagers ever, 12C! Among a pile of books, girls and fellows you get the first glimpse of our best specimen, Dick Giffen, his long hair hanging in his face. Carol Cowley stretches, listening to Brent "Gook" Manor's latest gossip. Just then Miss Westgate appears and the library doors swing open for another day. Sally Barlow, Maxine Watters, and Wayne Harris retire to their seats, joined by Eleanor Seary, Ted Pickering, Marion "Chandelier" de Vaan and Dick "Alex" Rock. In zooms Janet "Hazel" Murphy on her broom from her hall wonderings, joining the gang. Everyone looks up and in walks Dave Phillips. Their wait was ended! Now the fun began, for no one was too tired for Dave's doodles.

The hands of our beloved clock wearily stretch toward nine as our Pep Club "exec" Barb

Smith and Janet Davidson slip in. Taking a close third, in trips Barb Howie. She sure can skate; it's too bad she can't walk yet.

Then Jacob Ochs and John Faul come in, chased by Bev Martin who just can't wait to find her pal and give her the week-end report. Maybe you didn't know but Irene Woytowich and Marg Wiseman have just formed a swap club, (cookies, candies and Tri-State amusement).

Don't be alarmed, 12C does have their quiet ones, Rhoda Fowlkes, Sandy Wilson, Larry Coughlin and Dave Tarcia. Elayne Gilbert and Marianne Langlois almost make these few, but the have a reason. (Homework anyone?).

In the corner, Allan Rothwell plays albatross. Some day he'll get off the ground! The morning bell sounds and all file out passing Harry's typing, which was greatly appreciated by all. Last one out of the room is Nancy "Leap Frog" Housley as she leaps over the desks with the attendance slip clutched in her hot little hand.

In History, our sleeping stop, Mike Wilson catches up on missed hours and Gail Graham catches up on missed homework. Mr. Sabo decides to send Ken Wilson to Siberia on the Trans-Siberian Choo Choo Twain. David Logan has left us this first class and Ricky Milne doesn't seem to be here either. Monica Menn does some dreaming too, for next year, she's off to Germany to fulfill her dream. At noon, school comes to a halt and Jenny Ford hops in Bill's car and is off with her dream.

We of 12C hope all have a happy year to come and always remember to keep up your diary; it's worth extra marks!

Nancy Housley
Janet Murphy.

"THE WIPE-OUT"

—by Virgil Duff 11A

The meeting was set for the Skull's house. His parents were both working and weren't due home until late-afternoon. The Skull's real name was Irving Fotheringham, but Irving is hardly a fitting name for a gang leader, and thus he insisted upon being called by the alias, 'Skull.'

Hank, Tony and Jerry were due at any moment. Jerry was in the thirteenth grade in high school. The others attended a vocational school (this occupation was a nominal one).

A sudden rap at the back door shook the Skull from his deep thoughts. His sinewy body moved like a figure skater's as he leaped to his feet. The kitchen was a conglomeration of unwashed dinner dishes and remnants of the victuals of an aforementioned meal.

At the door were his three companions. The Skull motioned them in, and they offered their casual greetings as they made their way to the living room. "Say Skull," "How's it going, fella?" "What's up Skull?" They didn't wait to be told, but went about making themselves comfortable. Hank and Tony sprawled on the mauve carpet; Jerry seated himself in the worn easy chair. The Skull stood in their midst and began telling them his plan.

"Look, guys, we're gon'na 'lift' at Hudson's this Saturday." Hank and Tony murmured sounds of approval but Jerry broke in, "Why Hudson's, why not stay in Windsor?"

"We'll be less likely to be recognized by friends in Hudson's," replied the Skull.

"But we're more likely to be caught in Hudson's. Too many 'walkers,'" protested Jerry.

"There'll be so many people that they won't spot us easy," retorted the Skull, showing signs of annoyance.

"Well, what about getting the stuff through customs?"

"Look, we just take small stuff. Now knock it off. Say, if you're chicken you can cut out now and forget the whole bit fella!" The other two nodded assent to this remark.

"I'm not chicken! I'll go along, don't worry. I just don't wan'na get caught, that's all."

"All right, we're not gon'na ge caught, so stop worrying. Now look, we'll meet near the tunnel at two o'clock, Saturday, got that! We'll go across in pairs. All right, beat it! See ya Saturday." He let them out the back way and went back to the living room to think over their undertaking.

* * * * *

They went through different entrances at Hudson's, planning to meet in thirty minutes at a nearby cigar store. From there they would head home.

Thirty minutes later, Tony and Hank arrived at the store, followed by Jerry. They waited ten minutes, but there was no sign of the Skull. They walked back towards Hudson's on the opposite side of the street. Out front was a police car. Presently, three officers came out with the Skull in tow. Quickly they lost themselves in the throng of shoppers. They arrived at the tunnel as quickly as possible, and went back to Windsor at different times.

Meanwhile, because he was eighteen, the Skull was taken to the local precinct and locked up. It didn't take long for the police to crack his hard cover. He divulged the names of the other toughs within an hour. He spent the night in jail and was released on bond the next day.

* * * * *

On his first night back home, he went out in search of his pals, although he was much less cocky than on the previous day.

Before he had walked two blocks, that familiar cry, the one he had uttered so often himself rang shrill, "Get him!" Two forms leaped at him from behind. A cat-like figure on the left brought a chain down across his back. The other stomped his head and back with his bopping boots. They rolled the motionless mass into the gutter and vanished into the black. A new leader had risen from the throng to lead the others to more trouble, and then, inevitably to wind up himself in the gutter, a victim of the 'wipe-out.'

11A CLASS COLUMN

Times have changed since the 1800's when people travelled around the world in eighty days. Today, we are zooming about the earth in space capsules. Let's take a capsule ride into the future!

We blast off on the roof pad of Riverside High: our objective: to seek former students of 11A. Passing over Massachusetts, we notice Bostonian socialites, Ruby Thrasher and Cathy Kelly, enjoying a whirl of activities. In Washington, Virgil Duff (a cigar moulded in his lips) sits arrogantly, his legs propped up on an oak desk. He wastes no time giving orders to his messenger, Ken Winch, who winks at his favourite secretaries while scurrying from office to office with the attendance sheet. Next Frances Tako is busy operating her riding stables in the Blue Grass State. Bob Krivoshein and Eric Seppala are found in Hollywood, receiving rewards for dramatic successes. Herb Millar the strong man of Barnum & Baily, continues to lift his weights during the winter season at Florida.

As we zoom over Harvard University, we quickly glance at Brenda Steel and Jane Johnston cheering their team on to victory. Whipping over Mexico, we wave to Cathy Dell, Sue Livingston and Sharron Brown, who are engrossed in their favourite pastimes — "siestas" — while Margie Kay, Sheila Kelton and Nancy Watret nervously watch the bull fights. Julie Brennan, Judy Quarrington and Ann Ferry are seen sun bathing on the warm beaches of Chile. Larry Western is pointing out various geographic details of the Rift Valley using his knowledge attained from past geography classes in which he excelled. Pete Baxter is seen reciting Roman history on a pedestal in the Colosseum while Pam Duncan translates her living Latin in the streets of Pompeii.

Olga Sigmund becomes another Sterling Moss, racing around the tracks at Le Mans. Her driving has improved since she skipped school to get her licence! Irene Wojziuk is teaching French in France.

As we cross the Atlantic, Gail Hancox is spotted with her husband and five little ones sailing on the Queen Elizabeth to Europe. Carol Solomchuk and Faye Campbell have made their way to the top as the only two girls helping the Harlem Globe Trotters sink baskets. Henry Sipila, crowded by women is spinning the wheels at Monte Carlo. Jane Clancy and Lorrie Kirk are to be sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. in gymnastics at the World Olympics in Melbourne, Australia, 1999.

This is the last view before I find myself bobbing up and down in the Gulf of Mexico, soon to be hoisted ashore, and given a medal for being the first lady astronaut namely Wendy Burbridge.

A human mosaic, formed of jewels in-laid, is Displayed on a plain and common background.
The picture, of course, is imaginary,
but true, seen
Through the eyes of an onlooker.

I write of the mosaic not generally, not individually, since no one piece or part should glare or
Distort the overall impression.

But each part or section has been moulded separately for Collection, and each has a shine of its own.

Yes, all shaped differently to fit
Collectively in the final result of 11B.
Through our invisible camera we get a closer look at the colourful mosaic come to life. Like the bright, yellow, sun of early morning. Mr. Blake beams in front of the class. However, it's a blue morning for Richard Pracey, Ron Ellis, and Boyne Wiseman, after their wild weekends.

Off in a corner, sparkles Mr. Medd's geometry class, where Dave Dent is trying to revise the thoughts of Euclid with the help of Graham Gould and Brenda Cheetham's turning wheels.
Here is a brief note to Nancy Thompson.
"Don't be so blue, Nancy. Geometry problems are easier to solve with rulers instead of fingernails."

The gloomiest aspect of our mosaic is Physics class, where everyone is in darkness. Nancy Harkness gazes at the guinea pigs and whispers, "We used to have a white rabbit once." Paul White is still, although with failure, trying to use his glasses as concave and convex lenses. While Karen Johnson, Ruth Duncan and Linda Hipson
never get an experiment done.

In English, the camera picks up bright red, as Allan Tyson displays his red English marks. Are they prettier than the blue ones Al? On the other hand, Phil Street and Barbara Day, seem to be literary geniuses.

In the blue moments before lunch,
Miss Trottier scans the twenty geography
students for her next volunteer,
but seems to depend on Richard Moran, who shines in the front desk. Meanwhile,
Miss Balkwill has eight students in her care. Please note: Bob Linton is still having fun repeating lessons typed before Christmas.

On the mosaic, the colour now is a sickly green for Latin class, as Ron Fauteux seems to have met his Waterloo. Doug Connors shys behind Bob Lindquist, when Tom Newmark changes Don Juan's nationality. You do know what we mean, Jo-Anne Gillespie!

Our mosaic picks up a misty gray as History begins. Corina Ocolisan reveals the absentee role to Mr. Sabo, while Dave Hill wonders how the pyramids were built. Anne Powers is noted for writing a perfect paper, in history.

Our camera becomes blurred and as the bell rings at three-thirty, Susan Fuller, Judy Jones, and Carol Fisher run and conveniently meet their boyfriends. But lest we become too sentimental, we have a generous supply of "a little something to do" while burning the midnight oil.

The colours disappear, and the camera fades away from our mosaic of 11B, as students scatter homeward through the slush and snow of our winter streets.

11C CLASS COLUMN

Shh! The great director, Fredrico Fellini O'Gorman is assigning parts for today! In French, Audrey Hillman and Karen Flewelling are discussing with Corliss Duncan and Terry Clark the script, Rions Ensemble, while Sheila Wright is busy studying it.

In typing, Greig Holder, Mike Hoba and Bruce Jardine are rehearsing the parts of the Three Stooges. In English, Steve Weaver recites his famous poem "The Rip In The Cloud" and gets nodding approval from Bob Baillie. Now it's Geography, and Sandra Baillie, Sandy Bain, Marilyn Mallaby, and Theresa Sealy consult their book to build a backdrop resembling a horst. In the lab, the mad doctor Jim Robinson, and his two ghoulish assistants, Alex Robinson and Bob Meloche, prepare for the horror scene when they try to do a calorimeter question.

After a lunch break, we're back on the set with the director and helper, Jack Kitson. In the Gym, Tarzan (Paul Walden) and Jane (Sandra Long) practice swinging from vine to vine, with children, Pat Booth and Joyce Bolton.

The next scene is the blazing hot desert atmosphere of the History room, where Mohammed Andrews and the pyramid contractor and plumber, Linda Ben-net search for a site for their latest buildings, a freezer for Jan Ireland. She turns mighty red in History.

This day nears its end, and the director of the curtain scene, Mr. Medd, is putting away his protractor. Linda Westlake, Lois Manney, and Carol Lyon try to hide so that they won't be asked to play parts out on the board. At the back, our two quiet script girls Claire Lavasseur and Janis Burleigh count off the seconds, till three-thirty, and another day is over.

FLASH: NEW SERUM DISCOVERED BY A SMALL GROUP OF SCIENTISTS!

Mr. Giles and his group announced a serum for predicting the future. The experiments took place on Friday with amazing results. The 11D class was used as a group of human guinea pigs.

The first injected was Ozzie Stahl, who immediately started campaigning for the Presidency of Gondwanaland. When Larry Girard was injected, he began to bang on two coffee cups as though they were bongos, and recite beatnik poetry. Bev Schneider, who was injected at the same time, told us to fasten our seat belts and began to hand out chewing gum. Evelyn Debreceen told us about her design of a tri-level Japanese pagoda mounted on a helicopter for families who like a frequent change of scenery.

Reva Reid, when injected, started to rant and rave about the poor decor of the lab. She began to arrange things and recommended new colours. The doctors had some misgivings about Jane Pendlebury, for she acted very strangely. She sang and danced. There is no doubt, she will be a dancer. Ute Preussel also started to sing. The song we had never heard, but are sure that in 1982 "The Wind and the Rain in Her Leaves" will be a hit.

Walt Samanm started to yell "Down I come." "I'll be sure not to miss Stratford's production of Richard II in 1982." Sheila Wonsch took off for the animal hospital to distribute dog biscuits and catnip to the poor animals. She hasn't been seen since. Albert La Fleur became the first French chef to make Pizza in a Hungarian restaurant. Harris Grossman was over in the corner, processing a dictionary entitled English Words, Idioms, and Widely - Used Phrases. Ellen and Joyce Russell discovered the remedy for helping people live twenty years without food. That's what pills can do for you.

The serum is wearing off now. The future was told for Olwyn Veighey, Linda Brown, and Susan Whitley. Miss Veighey lived to be a bustling social director. Miss Brown became a guide at the Killarney Castle, and Miss Whitley became a fashion designer. Because of the danger

Having discussed the column for hours we came to the conclusion that we couldn't print some things. For instance, Gary, Frank, and Dave are sensational hockey stars (puck which one you like), but Anne is wrapped up in one of their team-mates. We heard Donna, Aline, and Peggy are preparing our class song. Cathy, after many requests is giving up cheer-leading for Lent Elliot, do you use Tonette? Marg, how are your aristocratic Walkervillites; how about yours Cathy McClelland? We noticed Bonnie and Eleanor suffer from oxygen starvation in their elevated positions. It's obvious Cathy Prestanski is crazy about BOBBie socks but, Chris and Mike are still undecided concerning the outcome of W.W.I.

Lorelei, I Herb you were Lyon to Connie about Gord. Jaye is your motto "an Apple a day keeps d'Wolfe at bay?" Rob Roger, Wayne, and Bill have "bouncing basketball insomnia." We see Dennis is learning to throw papers with his feet. We heard Linda is head over heels over a Leamington Baker. Wayne Yared and Glenn are wondering what homework we'll have during the summer. It's evident Peter is worried Lest'er feet blister. Ellen and Bonnie Budwin have planned their annual hunting trip. Watch out Boys!!!

We see Tom is trying to equal the accomplishments of his idol Darryl, without success. Congratulations Joan on the acceptance of your Rebelogue composition. Peggy Haley! Stop wasting time in Latin. Liz and Maureen, are you discussing axioms during math or just making Assumptions, eh Liz?

Is Linda Maxwell really dull in Science or did she fall for Pete. We hope your stiff neck is better Danny, but we know what those parties can do. Denny had Heart Failure during one of them! Dear Don; we were so overcome by your glowing personality, we couldn't think of anything to say.

Pretty Pam Alewick, superintendent of R.H.S. General Hospital, ushers us down the hall assisted by nurses Peggy Adair, Pat Hutchinson and Judy Burkhardt. In the children's ward we see Rod Brown, Brian Horn, and Pete Drury playing cowboys and Indians with Liz Higginbottom. Nan Holland, and Marilyn Hansor, who is the big chief. Look out! Here come the giggle girls nurses Sue Bates and Geri Day, pursued by intern Brian Baker. Through the swinging doors of ward "sick" . . . er, six, we see Marcia Baron and Linda Waddington in straight jackets continually cracking corny jokes. See here, Dr. Gratto, leave nurse "Wiggles," (I mean Williams) alone!! Ruthie, you're distracting Dr. Jay Jones with those big eyes. Eh, Jay?

The ambulance doors fling open. Hurriedly, stretcher-men Dan MacPherson and Doug Mercer carry Phil Ochs into the emergency ward where doctors Nick Lafleur, David Stewart, and Bob Wirch diagnose his trouble as severe "twistitis." In the psychopathic ward Janet and Heather Sadlier discuss army life, while Nancy Murphy reads writings by Virgil; and Fran Munroe pretends her first name is Marilyn. Linda Moore watches Edie Miller as she signs something about "Grannie swinging on some door." Ray Radojevich imagines he is a French butcher while John Western cries "has anybody got a rough note?"; Candy Campbell imagines her last name begins with a "R". Dr. John Voy says these cases all need surgery, while nurse Beth Purdy reminds him he has more important things to do. Neurologist, Roger Maus, shows his students, Randy Stoneman and Jim Shepherd, how to draw man, woman, birth, death, and infinity signs, while poor Nancy Bertram is in the emergency ward with the measles, missing all the fun. We have now finished our tour and as we leave the hospital the chief surgeon, Miss Balkwill, can be seen waving to us from the top floor of the hospital.

Candy Aytoun is quiet, she makes little noise, but one thing is certain she attracts all the boys. Pat Patrick is a sweet darling child, although sometimes she seems to get terribly wild. Jim Ball (milky) uses several bobby pins; too bad his hair looks like Rin Tin Tin's. In basketball Tom is pretty hairy but in French it seems he's quite the contrary. Carol Quick is a barrel of fun, but once in a while she acts shy to some. Brian Evans and Ken Sandelin roam the halls, to find the girls, one short and one tall. Caroline Fotheringham is taller than Sandy Douglas by a hair and when he calls her moose she starts to stare. Heather Freeman is our Charlie Brown but when boys are mentioned Sandy Tuck goes to town. Barry and Colin are real cool cats, and to Mr. Walton they tip their hats. Brenda Fryer didn't make the football team but as a cheerleader she's really keen. Cecil Southward twists with Marilyn Dowkes, while Bob Manor cracks his phoney jokes. Christine Zettl and Marilyn Harling are quite the brains while Heinz is slowly driving them insane. Marjorie Coulson does a very good imitation of a fawn while Pat Craig worries about her boy friend Don. Janice Gohm is always lending Barry her notes while Jim is worrying if his car floats. Lee Cutler is very silly, but Ileen Abbott is really a dilly. Pat Smith is always busy, while Janice Beaudoin pretends to be dizzy. Ken Harris over Uta chokes, and along comes that weight-losing girl named Cathie Fowkes. About Ileen Abbot her sharp clothes caught our attention. Leslie Wilson is a red-headed star, and sometimes rides in Gord's '62 car. Of Gail Evans we are quite fond, while Mary Holod and Sandy Mineau are trying their luck as blondes. Everyone is wondering how Carole Pearce's essays are coming along and we all know that John Wetherup is never in the wrong. In order to keep up with the space age, 10D has chosen as their first astronaut to reach the moon, Mr. Byng, who has demonstrated that he is willing to sacrifice himself to his students.

At 2:30 a.m. our hero rises and eats a meal of dehydrated bees' knees prepared for him by Monica Philips and Heather Mann. At 3:00 a.m. Ron Unger checks last minute details. The designers of the rocket, Ken Moore, Earl Morris, and the flight director, Ian Davy didn't test the craft for defects, but if Mr. Byng has any difficulty, all has to do is to flick a switch to be ejected, unfortunately, he can't land because Dian Webber didn't finish making the parachute.

The space suit was to be designed by Olgo Wynarchuck, Bev Smith, Dorothy Landauer, and Eileen Tiede; but their Home Economics teacher said they couldn't sew. Approaches our class reporter, John Bastion, asks Mr. Byng if he has anything to say, "Yes, Where's my rabbit's foot?" Bob and Allan Coulson lead our astronaut out and as he mounts the stairs, Mary Smith, Barbara McClellan and Bonnie Wells wish him luck: then he is pushed into the rocket by his good friend Preston Smith. Bob Goodfellow, Dave Higginbottom, and John Woodhouse wait to track the rocket as Ken Mathew begins the count-down.

Doug Simpson and Hanko Senget try to reach Mr. Byng even after Bob Simpson states that the rocket has blown. Mr. Byng is finally reached by Peter McCallum but the reply is jumbled. When Mr. Byng returns, Sandra Legget, Gail Gratto, and Jill Sgrazutti and the rest of the class with give him something: a new 10-D.

Five - four - three - two - one. Blast off!

There it goes; the Griffith's Galaxy, into orbit again with Glenn Ormseth as pilot and Sandy Weaver as co-pilot. Our first stop is at Venus but this didn't succeed because Liz Bowman and Kyle Boyle had trouble twisting into their space suits. While all this was going on Leslie Taylor, our classroom Romeo, was out making eyes at Venus and Gary Demers was looking for her twin sister. Next stop Mars; and charting our course is Pete Lapsley the class brain.

While passing the moon Margo B. and Margie Murray could be seen hanging out the window throwing spitballs at it or was it at the history teacher? Judy Munroe then sighted Earth and became homesick for her beloved soap operas. As Mars drew nearer Pam Pattison turned pale thinking of all those green Martians running around.

Upon landing Lionel Lewis and Doug Oke ran out the door in search of those legendary Mars candy bars. Next stop was Saturn. All through the tiresome trip, Ruth Thrasher and Jo-Anne Bernhardt slept soundly. Geoff Brown threw some water on them but to no avail.

After landing, the three musketeers Bill Whiteford, Dave Brebner, and Richard Griffith were the first to explore it. Meanwhile Marilyn Wakeley and Charlie Van Diessen were in a secluded corner — playing tiddly winks? We overheard Linda Donnelly and Sandy Speirn confiding to each other that they would like to try those new Martian hair styles.

Next stop Pluto, where Mary Lou Smith and Susan Talako were caught catnapping just like old times, eh Mr. Mascaro? They're no worse than Vicki Wachna and Susan Pastorius who were caught sneaking two Pizzaburgers out of the ships kitchen. Passing Pluto, Sandy Weaver tried persuading Sandy Hetherington to throw the Martian stowaways away. After Gail Orobko grabbed the "Mike" and yelled "I don't want to go!"

Dear Rebelogue:

This is a brief summary of what happens to "9C" on a typical day.

In home room John L. furiously copies Juha's homework while Bob Mussleman tries in desperation to find someone's to borrow. Chris, Jim B., Danny and Barry talk about week-end parties etc while Jo-Anne and Jane discuss boyfriends.

The Mr. Wilkinson walks into the room and smiles suspiciously at Godfrey. With ten seconds left, Linda B. runs down to the office with the attendance sheet. Class starts and no one can figure out why Hans and Geraldine are so smart in Math.

In composition Mr. Gorski tries to tell Peggy that an adjective does not modify a verb. During this time, Marrienne, Jane, and Jo-Anne try to distract Bill and Bob McCabe.

In Science Forrest tries to figure out how to light a Bunsen burner. Finally, just as Shirley, Nancy C. and Janet get started on their experiment Mr. Snyder tells us to clean up.

Back in room 14 for Guidance Dave, Don and John W. all want information on the life of a cowboy.

In Geography Bob W. tells Linda D. that none of the teachers like him.

We learn how to "parlez-vous" in Room 7 where Nancy S. bothers Jim B., while Carolyn gives all the answers to cover up for them.

Across the hall in History Anne catches up on lost sleep.

That just about finishes our letter; however, there are still some culprits:

Shiela, who cannot remember answers; Christine, who always argues with Danny; Rosemary who is quite quiet; Jim W. who never fails to do his homework; Bev. one of our student council members; and Angus, who tells us how to do Geography.

This is (9c).

Yours truly,

9E CLASS COLUMN

As the 9 o'clock bell rings, we here Mr. Mascaro saying SCHOOL IS IN and it is time for 9E'zy lessons from Arthur Murray. Then comes Brian Lesley with all the teachers complaining he is always doing the TWIST while Elizabeth is heard yelling WITCH DOCTOR. Over in the corner we find Barry Saunders, Allan, Colin, and Don, our SHY BOYS. Cheryl and Chris were heard singing a chorus of MICHAEL. Tom Milner, Tom Qweeney, Dan Niemi, Paul Cooper, and Greg have formed their own little secret gang. Their theme song is of course THE UNTOUCHABLES. Doug comes up from the gym singing

CANNONBALL or is it basketball? Ac for Jim Allan, who is JIMMY'S GIRL now? but we but we know Paul is always PEGGY SUE. After gym class we can hear Murna Holsey singing SPLISH SPLASH in the shower, while Cathy was yelling PLEASE MR. POSTMAN. Barb Young was telling the teachers PLEASE DON'T ASK BARBARA while Greg Brown is telling them DON'T BE CRUEL. Grant Harrison is seen doing THE FISH(ER) in science, but Mr. Snyder is wondering WHERE HAVE ALL THE FLOWERS GONE. Grant Housely answers him by saying "They have gone for A LITTLE WALK." Marg is sitting there thinking about JOHNNY ANGEL but Judy interrupts and says LET'S GET TOGETHER but not about Johnny. Then June Burleigh comes along asking WHAT'S HIS NAME? but Judy answers I'LL NEVER TELL. Brenda Taylor comes waltzing into Home Ec singing MOTHER-IN-LAW. She just has come from Taylor's Market. Bonnie Duchene says that a TOM BOY is for her but Gloria and Lynn says she is a SILLY GIRL. And so ends 9E'zy lessons from Arthur Murray and we now hear Mr. Mascaro sighing SCHOOL IS OUT. When!

In September 1960, Lynda Emerson and Dennis Duff were elected Head Girl and Head Boy of the Student Council. At the first meeting, Ron Allen was elected as Treasurer and Jane Anne Bower as Secretary. As in the past years the first school projects were the magazine drive and the sale of Christmas cards. With the profits, a tape recorder and a movie projector were purchased. The annual Commencement Exercises were held on December 21st with a dinner at the Riverside United Church, then the ceremony at the High School, followed by a dance in the gymnasium. A Christmas Assembly was organized, and small gifts were given to some of the teachers. On February 11th a special dance was held with Dick Bordeau of C.J.S.P. Radio as our guest disc-jockey. On May 11th, our annual Maytime Rhapsody was held in the school. Lynda Emerson, Jane Anne Bower, Mike Ward and Mike Wilson were the convenors. The members of the Student Council of 1961-62 wish to give many thanks to their advisor, Mr. O'Gorman.

The Key Club was expanded this year to a total membership of thirty-four boys, a move deemed necessary in view of the increased school enrolment. The larger Club took on several major projects.

On February 3rd a most successful Divisional Rally was held in Riverside. We wish to express our sincere thanks to all those who so kindly billeted the boys from out of town, thus making possible their attendance at the Rally.

The Key Club aided both the Windsor and Riverside Kiwanis Clubs in their fund-raising projects and we sponsored several school dances to enrich our own treasury. The custom of worshipping at various churches was continued this year and we visited a number of Windsor churches for the first time.

Still in the planning stage are a school Guidance night, to familiarize the students with careers in which they are interested, and the donation of blood to the Windsor branch of the Red Cross by all members eighteen years of age. At the District Convention, in Ottawa this Easter, we hope to secure the election of Dave Merschback as Lieutenant-Governor of our Division. Many members are looking forward to this Convention as the highlight of the Key Club year.

THE RED CROSS CLUB

This year the Red Cross has been successful in its undertakings. At the end of March we are to have a joint meeting with Harrow, Massey, Kennedy and Walkerville which is to be held at one of the Windsor schools. Also a Home Nursing Course has been planned for the future. During the Christmas Season, a box was filled and given to a needy Riverside family. Again this year school ribbons were on sale. We made them out of black and gold ribbons and sold them at 10 cents each. This proved to be very profitable. The seventh annual Snowflake Swirl was held December 15th. Although the attendance wasn't as large as we had planned, we were well satisfied with its results. Our Executive includes: Margaret Brady, President; Barbara Day, Vice-President; Ellen Russell, Secretary. Joyce Russell, Treasurer. We wish to extend our appreciation and thanks to Mr. Walton and Miss Ewasyke for their help and co-operation.

Ellen Russell.

CAMERA CLUB

Thanks to the interest and perseverance of Mr. Giles, a Camera Club has been re-established at Riverside High School. Elections were held in September and Neil St. Clair and Dave Keltington were elected joint Presidents of the club. Total membership is relatively low and it is hoped that in the years to come more interest will be shown in the club.

The club obtained darkroom facilities and within a relatively short period, purchased necessary equipment for developing and printing pictures. Among the projects undertaken this year were pictures of the "Caine Mutiny" and the photographic work for the year book.

The club is designed to promote photography as an art and acquaint its members with the latest techniques and facilities available.

Marion de Vaan,

Secretary-Treasurer.

DRAMA CLUB

After a lapse of several years, the Drama Club is back in full swing, thanks chiefly to the interest and hard work of Miss Clary. The executive is: President, Dave Merschback; Vice-President, Judy Quarrington; Secretary, Julie Brennan; Publicity, Gary Snyder.

The first endeavour was the presentation of "The Caine Mutiny" in early December. Members of the cast were Jim Hussey, counsel for defence; Dave Phillips as Challec, the prosecutor; Gord Thompson as Morgk; Walt Pastorius as the judge; Dave Merschback; Dave Logan; Phil Street; Dick Giffen; Gary Snyder; John Maxwell, and Ron Waddington. Many other students contributed their time and labour to work behind the scenes, making the play a success.

The Club's next presentation was in April and was a triple bill of comedies. One, directed by Miss Clary, "The Farce of M. Paletin," was a mediaeval French farce featuring Olwyn Vegihey Rod Brown, Wayne Yared, Dave Phillips, John Maxwell, Ray Radojevich and Sandy Douglas. The second was a modern American comedy under the guidance of Mr. Stone and entitled, "Let's Descend." Some of the characters were Dave Logan, Pete Baxter, Ron Waddington, Gary Snyder, Phil Ochs and Carol Burbridge. The third was "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," a Mexican comedy directed by Mr. Walton. The players were Marion De Vaan, Nancy Harkness, Brenda Steel, Barbara Day, and Dave Merschback.

It is hoped that the club will continue to function next year. Playwrights, actors, and producers have been called "Magic Makers," and with good reason. We know that Riverside students have enriched their lives by sharing in the magic of play making.

I.S.C.F.

1961-1962 has been a successful year for ISCF at Riverside. Proud to be the oldest club in the school ISCF celebrated its 24th year. The motto of the club "To know Christ, and to make Him known" has been exemplified in Bible studies, speakers, discussions and parties. This year an intensive study on "Who is this Man" in Mark was undertaken.

We were privileged to hear such speakers as Bernie Smith, our staff member, who also spoke at an Assembly in the fall, Rev. Lindsay Howan of Riverside Baptist, Murray Dresser, and Rev. Don Holiday of Campbell Baptist.

A wonderful weekend conference out at Gesto in October was highlighted with messages from Rev. Fred Renich of Detroit. At Christmas one of the sponsors, Keith Lapsley, and Betty Landauer, attended the sixth annual Student Missionary Conference at the University of Illinois, Urbana. Featured speakers were Billy Graham, Fest Kivengere from Africa, and Lawrence Love. Our sponsors this year were Mrs. Ken Steeves and Keith Lapsley. The executive included: David Tarcia as President, Larry Coughlin as Vice-President, Sheila Kelton as Secretary, Dennis Reaume as Literary Convenor, and Peter Lapsley as Social Convenor.

LIBRARY CLUB

This year's executive, which was elected at the first meeting is: President, Elizabeth Barron; Vice-President, Julie Brennan; and Secretary, Carol Solomchuk.

The number of books in circulation was increased by the purchase of several new volumes at the first of the year. In addition to regular desk duty the members catalogued sixty books which were attractively rebound. Another necessary addition to the library this year was a new filing cabinet.

Club members were treated to a very fascinating performance of Swan Lake by the National Ballet of Canada when it visited Windsor in January. The other group outing planned for this year is to see a presentation of play by the Windsor Light Opera.

The corps completed last year's training in the Riverside Arena where because of inclement weather the annual inspection was held. The cadets displayed a variety of skills.

The Lord Strathcona Shield for General Proficiency was presented to the corps as best of all high school Corps in Ontario. For the fifth consecutive year the corps won the Lord Strathcona Shield for General Proficiency.

During the summer several cadets took part in seven week courses at H.M.C.S. Acadia, H.M.C.S. Shearwater, and H.M.C.S. Cornwallis. Gordon Thompson was named the best cadet for the camp period at H.M.C.S. Acadia. The present complement is one hundred and ten cadets, and preparations are now being started for this year's annual inspection which takes place on May 14.

RIFLE TEAM

The rifle teams are showing even better prospects this year than last for taking second place in the Duke of Edinburgh Match. In the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association 1961, the team stood second for Sea Cadet Corps, and seventh for all cadet corps in Canada. Standings in these matches showed John Maxwell tied for first place, and Ted Pickering and Ray Mathews tied for second place. Six shooters will participate in the Ontario Department of Education Match in which Rick Faulkner received the High-on-Team medal last year. The team appreciates the faithful guidance of Mr. Busby, our shooting instructor.

BOYS' SPORTS

1961-62 SEASON

FOOTBALL

Early last fall, football practices began under our coaches, Mr. Giroux and Mr. Snyder. The year looked promising but bad breaks hampered the team's success. Although they failed to win a game, they gained valuable experience for the future.

Bruce Stott won the Best Player Award, donated by the Athletic Society, for his outstanding play at quarterback. The players were Gord Wirch, Bill Voy, Mike Ward, Wayne Harris, Ron Young, Ozzie Stahl, Richard Alewick, Pete Malowmey, Bob Luck-Baker, Ben Ormseth, Jim Duck, and Al Strachan. Bruce Stott and Ozzie Stahl were named as next year's captains.

The Junior Team, under Mr. Mascaro and Mr. Byng were in a newly formed league. They were undefeated and won the league championship.

TRACK AND FIELD

Riverside boys came first in total points at last years' track and field meet. For the junior boys, John Wetherup gained a first in the discus. In the intermediate, first places were won by Ken Woodall in the 440 yard dash and the 880 yard dash. Mike Ward tok fifth in the discus. For the seniors, Scott McIntyre won the 100 yard dash. Harry Woodend did a spectacular job winning the 220 yard dash and discus as well as being the high individual "point getter." John Loaring came first in the open mile with Bill White winning the high jump and John Andriash, the javelin. The senior boys relay rounded out this successful team by winning their event.

Walter Pastorius,
Roger Touchie.

HOCKEY

This year's team was coached by Mr. Snyder, and Dave Baker was an excellent goal-keeper. The captain was Bob "Whitey" Arnold assisted by Barry Jones and Doug Topliffe. Other players were Rick Morand, Herb Miller, Gary Ambrose, Dave Dent, Bobby Gratto, Boyne Wiseman, Jim Duck, Bob McCabe, Dave Ruch, Gord Thomson, Reg Abbot, Ken Woodall and Bruce Stott.

After a hard-fought season, the team captured first place for the First Division when they defeated Catholic Central two games to one.

They then went on to defeat Benedictine two games to one to win the League Championship. Another honour was won by Bob Arnold who scored 13 goals and made 17 assists to win the scoring championship. Bob was also named centre on the all-star squad along with goalie Dave Baker and defenceman, Gary Ambrose.

BASKETBALL

Mr. Giroux coached the senior boys' team this year with Mrs. Giroux keeping track of the statistics. He was assisted by Mr. Mascaro and Ron Young, the manager. Brent Manor at centre was high scorer with Ozzie Stahl and Mike Ward as close seconds. The first string also included Ron Allen, Roger Touchie, Gord Wirch, Bob Linton, Juri Kase-mets, Doug Connors, Bill Voy, and George Lewis.

The team was undefeated to capture the southern Conference Championship. At Chatham in the W.O.S.S.A. "A" playdowns they were defeated for the title but won the consolation round.

For the Juniors, Virgil Duff and Gary Huckle were the big scorers, John Voy was the key defenceman and Jay Jones and John Wetherup completed the first five. The Juniors also won the league championship, but were defeated in Chatham.

GIRLS' SPORTS

VOLLEYBALL

The Senior team dropped their first game of the season at Essex, but then they went on to win the next two games. However, at Leamington in the last game, Riverside was defeated. The Seniors entered a sudden-death playoff against Leamington for the league championship, but they were unsuccessful in their attempts. Even though the team failed to win the league championship, they did manage to defeat the Leamington Seniors for the first time in many years, during the regular season. The Seniors were coached by Miss Ogelsby and managed by Carol Hancox. Members of the team were as follows: Shirley Slusarchuk (captain), Sheila Georges, Lynn Burnie, Sue Taylor, Sandra Saruna, Marianne Langlois, Carol Burbridge, Maya Van Diessen, Linda Westlake, Linda Emerson and Evelyn Debrecean.

The Junior team, after dropping the first two games of the season, came back to win a close third game against Essex. However this victory was not enough to make the team eligible for the playoffs. The Juniors were coached by Sue Taylor and managed by Brenda Fryer. The members of the team were as follows: Jo-Anne Gillespie (captain), Bonnie Weiss, Sue Whitley, June Clancy, Gail Ororbko, Anne Emerson, Wendy Burbridge, Sue Nantau, Linda Moore, Lorelei Tripp and Cathy Kelly.

Even though neither team won the league title, they played well and we would like to congratulate them on their efforts.

BASKETBALL

Members of the Junior Girls' basketball team were as follows: Sue Whitley (captain), Anne Emerson, Linda Moore, Judy Munroe, Mary Lou Smith, Marie Valconen, Candy Aytoun, Gail Hancox, Jeanette Dowkes, Marilyn Dowkes, Susan Talacko, and Marg Woodall. During the six games played this season, the Juniors beat Essex twice, but were defeated by Leamington three times and by Essex once. The Juniors were coached by Miss Ogelsby and the manager was Vicki Wachna. The girls showed great enthusiasm throughout the season.

The Senior Girls' basketball team was trying to defend their WOSSA title, but they were unsuccessful in their attempts. The Seniors ended the season with a record of three wins and three losses to the new WOSSA champions, Leamington. This year's team was coached by Miss Ewasyke and managed by Sheila Georges. The team members were as follows: Elaine Gilbert (captain), Sheila Georges, Sue Taylor, Shirley Slusarchuk, Sandra Saruna, Sally Barlow, Olga Sigmund Maya, Van Diessen, Carol Solumchuk, Faye Campbell and Wendy Burbridge.

The interform basketball championship was won by the grade thirteen Raiderettes. We would like to thank all the girls, who refereed and scored the interform games.

TRACK AND FIELD

In last year's track and field meet held at Windsor Stadium, the Riverside girls lost by only four points to Leamington in the overall standing.

Junior Girls — Sue Whitley placed first in the high jump event with a jump of 4' 3". Beth Purdy, with a run of 13' 3", won the running broad jump and she was also second in hop-step and jump contest. Edith Miller and Bonnie Weiss were second and third respectively in the standing broad. Wendy Burbridge placed third in the shotput and Riverside was second in the basketball pass.

Intermediate Girls — Pam Fellows was first in the high jump, with a jump of 4' 3". Pam was also third in the standing broad. Lynn Burnie won the standing broad event with a jump of 7' 3". Lynn was also second in the hop-step and jump and placed third in the running broad. Riverside was second in the basketball pass.

Senior Girls — Carol Harvey was third in the shot put contest, while Sandy Hepburn placed second in the high jump. Riverside was first in the basketball pass with 30 and $\frac{1}{3}$ revolutions in one minute. Shirley Slusarchuk placed in the three events that entered. Shirley was second in the hundred yard dash, second in the running broad and second in the hop-step and jump.

We would like to congratulate all the girls, who participated in the athletic activities throughout the past year. Good luck to all the teams next year.

Sheila Georges

Sue Taylor.

PEP CLUB

Miss Ogelsby put things in motion by forming a Pep Club. Unfortunately, we lacked the boys' support this year, but hope they will help us promote "School Spirit," next season. We sold sweat shirts to the student body at $3.50 and we thank the majority who purchased them. Pom-poms were sold at the basketball games, and many posters were made advertising these games. A school mascot was chosen and purchased. He is the REBEL GHOST who appears around the school. A Key Club-Pep Club Dance was held March 2. The executive of our first year was Barb Smith, President; Janet Davidson, Vice-President; Elayne Gilbert, Treasurer; and Faye Campbell, Secretary.

Let's see everyone working hard for our school next year, and create a lot of "School Spirit" in our last year at the old Riverside High, and try and learn the "RIVERSIDE FIGHT SONG" to sing at all the games.

Faye Campbell.

ATHLETIC SOCIETY

The Athletic Society undertook many projects during this school year. The first project was the formation of the athletic room in the gym. Students, on the presentation of their activity cards, could take out athletic equipment at noon hours and after school. The Senior Boys' basketball team was outfitted with new black sweat jackets and yellow megaphone crests were purchased for the cheerleaders. A weight-lifting club was formed after school and more weights were bought for the club's use and also for gym classes. The Athletic Society bought a trophy, which will be presented to the most valuable player of the football team. This year's winner was Bruce Stott. Ten sets of shoulder pads were purchased for a hundred dollars by the Athletic Society, for the football team. To uphold the tradition of Riverside High School, pictures of all the winning teams will be placed in the main hall. Posters were made for some of the basketball games this year and records were bought for the dances, after the games.

The executive of the Athletic Society for the year 1961-62 is as follows: President, Alan Rothwell; Vice-President and Publicity Chairman, Shirley Slusarchuk; Secretary, Sue Taylor; Treasurer, Herb Miller.

THE COFFEEHOUSE

The lonely wail of a jazz trumpet resounded throughout the smoke-filled room. It penetrated into the dimly lit corners, only to be hurled back again by the dark walls. The odor of strong espresso and cigarette smoke blended to form a strange, sweet-smelling incense. Blue-grey layers of heavy smoke swirled around the bleak, unshaded bulb that overshadowed the lone trumpeter, forming a living statue of highlights and shadows in sharp contrast. The low, almost inaudible sound of voices were a soft background to the sharp, clear blasts of the trumpeter.

—Paul White 11B

THE SAD STREETS

The city of Detroit is not made up entirely of towering buildings. As one enters the poorer districts, the complete change from the hustle of the main streets can be sensed. These are more commonly known as the slum areas, where an air of gloominess prevails. Along the dirty, litter filled avenues, misery, despair and poverty can be seen.

There are the old men, sad-eyed and weary, with their old clothes and battered hats. They live from day to day, prisoners in their world. One will see them sitting on the steps of some bleak apartment house. There are no smiling faces on the little children in the streets and alleys. The cheap bars are always filled. There is no gaiety or laughter. It is a living world, yet there is no life.

For the second year in a row, the Prefect system has been organized under the guidance of Mr. O'Gorman and Mr. Byng and Miss Ogelsby who has replaced Miss Barr as the third staff advisor.

Besides keeping order in the hallways and lunchroom, two Prefects have been assigned to each grade to direct the students to the gym at assemblies. It has been suggested that Prefects attend the school dances to help supervise them.

This year's captains are: Ted Williams, Dick Giffen, Ron Allan, Linda Emerson and Shirley Slusarchuk. Co-operation of the student body has been greatly appreciated by the fifty some Prefects from Grades Twelve and Thirteen.

SOCIAL REVIEW

Social functions were well attended this year by the student body. The Initiation Dance, climaxing the eventful Initiation Week, was especially successful. The annual Hard Times Dance was also noteworthy with its variety of costumes. On December 21st, the Student Council held a dance following the Commencement Exercises. Everyone enjoyed the Record Hop featuring the disc jockey, Dick Bordeaux.

During the year the Athletic Society and the Key Club sponsored dances after both girls' and boys' basketball games. These dances were well attended and proved to be a tremendous success.

At the annual "Snowflake Swirl," couples danced to the strains of Phil Gimpel's Band. Due credit goes to the members of the Red Cross who worked hard to make the dance a delightful affair.

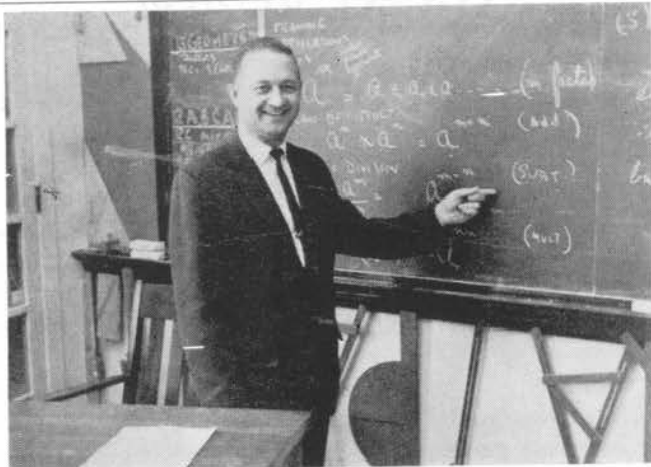

A "Hawaiian" theme prevailed at the fourteenth annual Maytime Rhapsody, May, 1961. Accentuating the beautiful decorations was a lighted fountain donated by Cock Bros. The colorful Hawaiian murals added much to the mood of the evening. Realistic palm trees adorned the pillars. Thus, the gymnasium was transformed into a South Sea Paradise. The committee responsible for this transformation included: Mary MacPherson, Shirley Everett, Linda Emerson, Jane Anne Bower, Linda Carberry, and Ross Miles. Wally Townsend's Band provided the music.

The dance was honoured with the patronage of Mr. Walton, the teaching staff, and members of the Riverside Board of Education.

The climax of the evening came with the crowning of Mary MacPherson as "Queen of the Maytime Rhapsody Ball." Mary, beautiful in light blue scalloped lace, was escorted by Mike May. Her court included Beth Montgomery, lovely in pink chiffon escorted by Bill Ruch; Colleen Howard, stunning in tiered white lace and escorted by Paul Moore; Gale Purdy attractive in light blue peau de soie, escorted by Jack Barlow; Linda Emerson, pretty in white satin, escorted by Ian Steel; Shirley Everett, exquisite in a white satin flared skirt topped by blue satin and escorted by Bill Stewart; Sandy Hepburn, delightful in yellow dotted swiss, escorted by Bob Issel; and Carol Burbridge, beautiful in a floor-length ice blue peau de soie gown, escorted by Peter Nantais.

"END OF A DOG"

In the farmyard my brothers frolic,
Nipping the heels of the lamb and the kid,
Burying themselves in the pleasures of dogs,
Living for life, as once I did.

I would leap in the air for no reason at all,
Lick a scar, not long to mend,
Fight my mates for a bone or a ball,
Now I lie still, and wait for the end.

My dish lies filled with morsels refused,
My young ribs creak with every breath,
My eyes are dim, my heart is lost,
All that remains in longing for death.
I have lost the strength and will to rise,
To meet the coffin where my masters lies.

"A DREAM"

Each night before he went to bed
He paused to watch the stars o'erhead,
The vastness of the space he saw
Filled his mind with wonder and awe.
He knew that man would soon reach Mars,
And then his goal would be the stars,
And when all this has been attained,
Could any force long keep man chained?
Perhaps in untold ages hence
Man will acquire every sense,
No region won't his mind have trod
Would not then man become a god?
But then he drifted into slumber deep,
For God had given him the gift of sleep.

SOLITUDE

O sallow moon of yellow gold,
Towering in the heavens,
Accompanied by multitudes of stars
While I, down here,
Pass away the yearning hours
Alone, unaccompanied, abandoned
By all who previously embraced
Me with the hospitality of constant
Friendship and compatibility.

What has happened
That I am no longer accepted
Among my one-time friends?
How have I changed from those Precedent days?
If only I could be told!
If only someone would contribute
The manifestation to my query
I might strive to better my efficacy.

Won't someone come to my relief?
Show me where I've missed the path?
Counsel me until I've perceived
The way which once before I trod;
Wherein I possessed a host of friends
And life consisted of all the pleasures
Attainable through companionship with Those whom we appreciate, and who,
In turn, value our amity and love.

O sallow moon of yellow gold,
Why am I down here alone
While you are up there surrounded
By those multitude of stars?
Tell me your secret of compatibility,
Explain your methods of procuring
The fellowship of those to whom you are A semblance. Lead me out of my world of solitude,
Direct me to a haven of comradeship.

(A solemn poem)

A crying child wandered down the lonely path.
The sun was shining brightly.
All at once, he spied a melting icicle.
The child looked at the icicle—
The icicle looked at the child.

From where I was standing I could not tell Who was weeping the most—the child or the icicle.

FORGIVEN

A seat by the wall in the shade of a tree,
Surrounded by flowers once planted by me,

Bring back memories only love can provide,
To the young and foolish these thoughts will guide.

Yet even to experienced years each blossom brings,
A reminder of how each bloom almost sings.

So treasure each flower as it peeps through the ground,
And thank the Lord that he is always around,

To take each wayward soul in his hand
And keep each life in a harmonious band.

Soft music is heard when voices die,
Shimmering in my memory——

DAWN IS TOMORROW

The small, smoke-filled room was packed with gesticulating humanity but one figure stood out from the rest. The dull, aimless drone of his voice seemed to hang over the hall. "Fellow workers. We cannot relax our vigilance. Not only for ourselves, but for the rest of the oppressed peoples of the world must we be ready. Some day soon we must be prepared to rise up and throw off the chains that the Czar and his capitalist autocrats have locked on us. How long can - -" The rest of his harangue was lost to the ears of one young idealist. His imagination and hopes had been catapulted into the future and was now soaring through decades of time and space. Ah, but what a fine world it would be in just a few short years. When he and his fellow Bolsheviks seized control of the government their homeland would see no more hunger or pain. Its citizens, under the direction of an executive of the Party, of course, would be happy, well-fed and secure. No longer would the dreaded Third Section burst into the refuge of one's home and emerge minutes later dragging a pleading victim off into the inky, all-enveloping darkness. There would be no pompous old aristocrats to scrape and bow to, but everyone would be a comrade, with the same regard for the Party and for his country. Yes, it would truly be fine. And then; and then some day the whole world might—

The crowd of mortals was by now roused to a furor and uncontrollable shouts of "Down with the Czar" or "Down with the Third Section" rang throughout the room, their sounds coming from lips heedless of the fact that a government collaborator might be among them. The chairman rapped for order while the demonstration continued unchecked, only to stop a few minutes later of its own accord after welling up in a chorus of sound as a neap tide in some isolated bay.

The men filed out of that enclosure slowly and listlessly, physically worn by their own frustration. The young man came out last and walked slowly down the dingy alley, his mind too crowded with thoughts to make clear thinking possible. He visualized the world forty or fifty years from that time. The fatherland would have been then risen to be the greatest world power, its ideologies accepted the world over. Even those two cesspools of capitalism, Britain and the United States would have been taken over by an enlightened working class, and now enjoying all the benefits that Marx had promised to Mankind. In the fatherland everyone would have enough food and would be able to think for himself. Even those resolute unrealistic Christians would be allowed some freedom to worship their god, foolish as all that sentimentalism was.

As he gazed up into the dark sky, through the darkness he could see large, dark storm clouds gathering in the midnight sky. How prophetic that was. Even as those clouds filled the sky ready to pour down their fury and lash out their lightning, so were millions of oppressed serfs and workers preparing to strike the relentlessness and with an irresistible fury.

He pulled his weary frame up the steps that led to the small room where he and his parents still managed to be able to exist and the weariness of the long day in the factory and the excitement of the meeting left a nauseating feeling in the pit of his stomach and a dull throb in his head. As he opened the door, its rusty hinges squealing with the agony of strain, he realized he was in a poor temper but his conscience was too weak to control this emotion. With the first sight of his parents; his father, a greying old patrician, and his mother, weathered with years of labour and worry, his eyes caught them in such a way as he had never thought possible. His bearded father was no longer the all-protecting force that shielded him from any unpleasant situation but rather a sentimental, staid old fool who was forever locked in the ways and dreams of the past. His mother rather than representing all that was gentle and good, now represented a weak senility that could lead only to self-destruction and—

"But you can't hope to accomplish anything, my son. The Czar and his police are too powerful for you and your puny band of radicals. We must wait and hope that the Lord will send us a new ruler soon who will be more wise and temperate than Nicholas. Perhaps in a few years we—"

The young revolutionary vaguely remembered shouting such phrases as "traitor" and collaborator" and then striking the old man a vicious blow full across the face, and then running wildly down the two flights of stairs and outside. The cold air just before the dawn struck him harshly and he remembered that he had forgotten his jacket, but the thought meant little to his numbed mind.

He would never go back. He knew that now. It was too late. He would devote his life to the work of the Party, perhaps even lead the revolution that was sure to come. Rounding a corner, the crimson glow of the rising orb struck him full on the face. A heavy hand clamped on his shoulder and a harsh voice spoke to him in guttural tones. "Come, citizen, you have a meeting to keep with the firing squad—"
